James I. Ennis, handwriting expert, pronounced the writing identical with that of Appel, which Mr. Rogers had on several checks. Mead at once telephoned the identification and a certified copy of the indictment was mailed.

In Mead's letter to Mr. Rogers, he said that the finan he suspected of being Appel was using the name E. Toumananz, and represented himself as president of the Okansas Oil Company.

He was prospecting for wells near Newkirk, Okla. Toumananz expected to sink two or three test wells, according to Mead. Each of these would require an expenditure of $100,000.

Place 10,000 Extra Tickets on Sale Today

Fans who have been wailing because they have failed to buy seats to the New Year's Day football game as Pasadena' will welcome the announcement that 10,000 extra tickets will go on sale this morning. This all comes about because of the inability of the Navy to use more than half of their allotted number.

Due to the fact that many of the men of the naval forces stationed at San Pedro will be unable to attend the game owing to the necessity of holding them aboard ship to prepare for the fleet's departure for winter maneuvers in southern waters the day following the encounter, half the seats were turned back. A large block of seats has therefore been turned over to Darwin Melsnest. Washington manager, who will place the tickets on sale this morning at 10 q'clock. The seats are all good ones, being on the Navy side of the field, situated around the 35-yard line.

The Huskles are scheduled to leave Scattle tomorrow night, arriving in this city Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Tickets go on sale today at B. H. Dyas, Spaulding's, 1010

Wednesday. The main event will bring together Bert Colima, Pacific Coast champion, and Sailor Larry, colored battler. This will be their fifth meeting, Colima won two decisions, both of which were close. There were two draws. Interest in the Washington-Navy football game scheduled for next Tuesday at Pasadena in the Rose Bowl will doubtless become more heated now that Santa Claus. Dick Ferris and the Haskell Indians have made their splash. One thing that has served to detract slightly from the interest in the game, aside from counter-attractions, is the fact that neither team has seen fit to leave home until the last possible moment. There is no doubt, but that the presence of one or both of the teams on the scene of battle would serve greatly to increase the interest in the affair.

There is no question but that the Washington eleven is going to be installed as a huge favorite over the midshipmen. Every place you go the conversation seems to run the same way. Those who saw the Washington-California game said that if the Huskies had been pussessed of the Bears' brains they would have had the greatest football team of all time. The Bagshaw products certainly are powerful and as such will undoubtedly be worth seeing.

will undoubtedly be worth seeing.

It seems impossible to "dope out" what's the matter with the Navy. They don't seem to have been able to score on the good teams to any marked degree, their victory over the fast Colgate eleven by a 9-to-0 score being about the height of their season. Against Penn State they made something like fifteen first downs as against four by the Lions but they got a first-class licking, scoring only one field goal.

There seems to be an idea abroad that baskethall is going to take on a new lease of life this winter. The indoor court game is without a doubt one of the fastest and most exciting forms of sport. To play the game a man must be as good physically as a football-player and it has the great advantage of being spectacular at all times. The ball is always on the move and the points are rung up by the rival teams with great rapidity.

A few years ago Whittier-College used to clean up the whole State at the game but interest faded away and was considerably revived last year when U.S.C. made a rather good showing against California and Stanford, particularly the latter. This year there are several good teams in the south and apparently the court game is due for a owift comeback.

The sudden leap to fame of George Manley, the Denver light-heavyweight, who floored Hert Colima at Hollywood the other night, reminds us of Shelby where Manley struggled and perspired for a couple of weeks previous to the Dempsey-Gibbons, mess. Manley, along with several other Denverites, was a member of Gibbons's training crew and boxed with Dempsoy's challenger every day.

Manley certainly was willing and hurled murder in one hand and destruction in the other and was one of the chief attractions because everybody figured that if he ever hit Tommy on the elbow he'd knock him out. Manley never succeeded in connecting, however, and was regarded as about a million miles below Jimmy Delaney in ability. Delaney also being a member of the Gibbons camp. And yet Delaney got a draw with Colima and Manley almost knocked him out.

important that this fault be overcome if she is going to make a good golfer, as it results in poorly executed shots. Instruction by a professional or by some skillful player who is really able to give instruction is important to progress in the game. Professional teachers always tell me that women accept instruction at the start very readily, but after having mastered the first principles have a feeling that "they can go it alone," and they refuse to recognize the difficulties which at once develop. Many persist in this attitude with the result, that their progress is arrested early in their golfing careers and they seldom better their play after that. To restate the big principles women players should bear in mind let me say: "Follow the same principles in practice that is given for men players. Guard against the mistake of using clubs that are too light under the impression that you have to handle light clubs. Use clubs that are adapted to you, individually. Practice for a three-quarter swing rather than a half swing and in all other respects the same golf-ing principles described for

MILADY'S GAME real picasure out of the game than men do. Certainly this is true in toursment play where there is little of the somber stolldity so characteristic of most tournaments of men players. The attitude of men in tournament play reminds me of the story of two Scotchmen, one of whom after sixteen holes of absolute silence lost a put on the seventeenth hole and gave 'vent to his feeling by a muttered "Doun." His partner turned fiercely and said: "Donald, Canna ya play gawf, wi-oot being a chatterbox?"

Chester Horton tells me that women make excellent pupils; that they comprehend the hints given them and remember the lessons. Women seem to have no particular faults or weaknesses which differentiate them from men players. The commonest fault I have observed is that they do not do the backward swing with the toe of the club pointing upward instead of downward. This seems to be caused by a men do. Certainly this

This seems to be caused by a loss of control over the wrists which may be due to inadequate wrist strength, but this certainly can be overcome by practice and exercise of care. To correct it the player should make her backward swing more slowly than has been her practice and keep always in mind the idea of having the down stroke follow the same are of the circle that her backward swing has made. But the trail was astisfying: a path brown with pineneedles and rough with roots, among the balsams, the ferns, the sudden groves of white birch. He became credulous again, and rejoiced in sweating. When he stopped to rest he chuckled, "Guess we're hitting it up pretty good for a couple o' old birds, eh?" "Uh-huh," admitted Joe.

That moment he started for Zenith. In his journey there was no appearance of flight, but he was fleeing, and four days afterward he was on the Zenith train. He knew that he was slinking back not because it was what he longed to do but because it was all he could do. "But I'm going to — oh. I'm going to start something!" he vowed, and he tried to make it valiant.

SPIRITUAL FORCES OF THE WORLD ITS FINAL DETERMINATIONS."

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE

"The spiritual forces of the world make all

The head of one of the great nations of the earth, speaking to and for his country, makes this momentous acknowledgement.

its final determinations."

In recent years leading men in government and business in Europe and America have been proclaiming that the salvation of nations and people must come through religion—that there is no other remedy for conditions.

Shocked at the fruits of mad materialism and Godless policies they would sound a warning.

Placing the resources of the world in the service of selfishness and hatred to destroy civilization has left thinkers aghast and they turnto escape—in the only direction there is to turn -upward.

"The world has had enough of the curse of hatred and selfishness. . . : It has had enough of the wrongful use of material power." (President's message.)

It is, more or less, a universal custom to "take stock" of all things at New Year's time and to make plans and "resolutions" by which we shall operate while the earth makes another journey around the sun.

The condition of the world is chaotic. The late cataclysm loosened the forces of evil and left a wake of violence. Evil is rampant.

To meet the situation we must increase our use of "spiritual forces." In America we need one hundred million volunteers. Will our President's "call" produce the requisite number of enlistments?

And what will the excuses be and why should there be any excuses?

We take mathematics, physics, economics into all our calculations and plans, but do we give equal consideration to "spiritual forces"?

Is there any reason why we should not take God into all our business and affairs? Are mathematics or physics more important than spiritual forces?

"The time has come for a more practical use of moral power, and more reliance upon the principle that right makes might." (President's message.)

How does Santa Monica answer the call?

She reports some progress. Her location at the end of the road is significant. Being at the end of the horizontal journey in the search for better things she must now look up.

Nearly two thousand acres, which will contain a complete community organization of its own, have been dedicated and consecrated to Christian idealism under the name of Pacific Palisades.

It is a practical community in which nothing can find lodgment that is not in harmony with the spirit of the Master.

It is both educational and religious, fulfilling the President's words when he said: "Enlightenment must be accompanied by that moral power which is the product of the home and of religion."

Pacific Palisades stands for enlightenment, religion and the ideal home—the great producers of "moral power."

If the Greater Santa Monica Club may be permitted to speak for itself, it is the standard bearer of the big idea and the great ideal.

It eliminates selfishness with unselfish service and replaces hatred with love.

As the voice of the community it holds aloft its ideals.

It seeks the good of all within the range of its efforts without limits or boundary lines. It benefits only as all benefit.

It seeks to give and not to get, to build rather than to profit. Its work is wholly constructive, unifying, harmonizing and peace-promoting.

It works for the good of Los Angeles county and city and the bay district as well as Santa Monica. It has never sought the welfare of Santa Monica alone.

It is an expression of practical idealism rather than commercialism.

"Spiritual forces" have had first consideration and honor and are to be credited with the far-reaching and beneficent results achieved.

If Santa Monica has proven that the only practical thing is the ideal, she has done a service to her country.

that this is an age of commercialism. But Mrs. Catharine Eckhart, 67 years of age, and William D. Frost, 75, a veteran of the Civil War, believe life is romance and love is the only real thing in the world.

The couple, after a separation of fifty years, have been reunited The romance of their youth, which ended back in the '70s, has again become a reality, and they will spend their remaining years together in happy companionship. The marriage ceremony took place here at the home of Mrs. J. A. Wendworph. 218 Woodward avenue North. Bi-mingham, a sister of the bride. The children and grandchildren of the two were present. There were pink roses, Christmas holly and wedding cake for the gala occasion, and there is to be a honeymoon to Florida, where they will remain for the winter. The bride, dressed simply in a dark silk gown, seemed as proud as a girl of her handsome diamond and platinum engagement ring, and of her fine carved wedding. chants generally say people this year dimanded better goods and were willing to pay the price, but they insisted upon quality. The business in toys was 30 or 40 per cent greater than last year.

One leading merchant said that more than 15 per cent of all the annual business was December business, or money directly spent for Christmas. He believes the Christmas buying will go far above the hundred-million mar.

One of the big sales features this year was radio outfits. It is within reason to say this item ran well into $1,000,000.

waiting for the ceremony to begin, they talked of that other diamond ring which a girl dressed in wide flounced skirts and a tight hasque of the '70s had worn and loved and given back when she was just 17.

Then Mr. Frost took out of his pocket a picture of that girl of long ago. It is a picture he has treasured all these years.

"But she is more beautiful now." he declared gallantly as he looked at her snow-white hair, blue eyes and pink cheeks.

The difficulties which resulted in their separation fifty years ago arose because their parents interested in their romance. Both married, but always they remembered and always they kept in touch with one another's life.

(BT A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

NEW TORK, Dec. 26.—Recessions ranging from large fractions to 13-4 were general in the French government and muncipal bonds listed on the New York Stock Exchange in today's post-holiday trading. Traders attributed the deciline to selling due to the drop in French exchange. There was no evidence, it was stated, however, of any sizeable liquidation.

A rise in Mexican 5's of more than a point reflected optimism on the part of some traders in the ability of the Mexican government to successfully cope with the military uprisings in some of the Mexican States.

Trading was relatively quiet in both the railroad and industrial groups, fractional recessions being general among the ruil mortgages.

And on an important downtown business property, the Commercial Exchange Building on the corner of Eighth and Olive Streets.

This is right in the trend of Los Angeles' greatest siness growth.

The bonds are also a first claim on the net earnings of the building, and additional to this each bond is the direct obligation of the corporation owning the property.

The rent alone is estimated from ripe experience as being enough to pay the interest and serial maturities on these bonds four times.

The interest rate is 7%. This is more than half again as great as that from a deposit account.

These First Mortgage Real Estate Serial Gold Bonds can be bought in $1000, $500 and $100 amounts; and if you haven't all cash. $10 down will buy a bond. Send for details.

If you are holding any securities which are not bringing you the income they should or are in a weak position, mail the coupon today for folder "The Answer," with circular describing this 7% issue.

He then stated that the French armies of occupation would not in-terfere with the local governments, that there was no intent to aid in any local movements tending to the dismemberment of Germany.

In The Times on Wednesday morning Vincent Sheehan reported what is taking place in the Bavarian Palatinate. He is a special correspondent sent to that district to get the facts. And the facts which he reports will not be pleasant reading for those who hold that the French government is proceeding under the Treaty of Versailles. History is repeating itself. The French are doing on the east bank of the Rhine just what they did under Napoleon more than 100 years ago. From Spire, one of the principal towns in the Palatinate, Mr. Shee han cables:

principal towns in the Palatinate, Mr. Shee han cables:

The French have openly forced a republic on the people by the bayonets of 20,000 negro troops, while every official maintaining his allegiance to Germany has been driven across the Rhine or thrown into jall. Gen. De Mets not only admitted his part in the movement, but boldly justified it by saying:

"France does not ask America what she does in Panama or Mexico. Why should America worry over what we do in the Rhineland?"

The entire movement here—happening almost without the knowledge of the world in general—was completed within the last four weeks with machinelike efficiency; the Moroccan soldiers first disarming the German police officials, imprisoning them in public buildings and declaring a curfew, keeping the people inside their houses by rings of bayonets in the streets.

The last extension granted fixes the date for completion of the tunnel as January 1. The board yesterday took the request for additional time under consideration. It will attempt to fix the earliest date in which the work can be completed and also to determine just what progress is being made. A report on this phase of the matter has been asked by the board from the City Engineer, who is supervising the work.

The board also has requested a report from the City Attorney setting forth what course the city can follow in taking the work out of the hands of the present contractors and completing it under municipal direction.

of the proposed city charter was presented by George H. Dunlop, secretary of the Board of Freeholders, in an address given yesterday before the City Club at the Chapman Building.

Mr. Dunlop said the charter has two principle objects—to provide a high degree of participation in city affairs by citizens, instead of by politicians, and to call to the city's service expert management in administration. Politicians were defined by the speaker as "those paid te give full time to the city's business."

"We have tried to get into the public life of Los Angeles representative citizens who, as a matter of course, in smaller towns, give part time to the public," said Mr. Dunlop. "In large cities, as public business increases in variety and extent, it has been increasingly difficult to get service from such men. The method we have used is that of increasing the importance of commissions which shall be policy-making boards, together with the creation of administrative managements."

Height-Limit Apartment for Wilshire Boulevard

Grether & Grether Plan New Mercantile Building

Announcement was made yes-terday by A. C. Blumenthal of the sale of the old Ambassador Hotel site at Santa Barbara to a syndicate of local business men at a reported consideration of $300,-000. It is the intention of the purchasers to subdivide the tract and to spend several hundred thousand dollars on improvements.

It was also learned that negotiations are under way for the erection of a large hotel on the site and several business and apartment-house structures as part of the construction program. The tract contains approximately thirty-nine acres of ocean frontage and is declared to be one of the finest sites on the coast for residential purposes.

THE PUNCHASERS

According to Mr. Blumenthal, the land was sold to Walter H. Leimert, Ole Hanson, H. H. Cotton and A. C. Blumenthal & Co., by S. W. Brauss & Co. Chicago investment bankers. Subdivision operations will be in charge of Mr. Hanson, local real estate man. Arrangements for the erection of buildings on the property will be completed within thirty days, it was stated.

For a cash consideration of $200,000 and as the site of a height-limit apartment-house, negotiations were completed yesterday for the purchase of the northeast corner of Wilshire Boulevard and New Hampshire street by two San Francisco merchants, Sidney L. Peiser and Milton Jonas. The corner was bought from A. C. Blumenthal and Joseph Schenck through the James J. Donahue realty firm.

MERCANTILE BUILDING

MERCANTHE BUILDING

A six-story mercantile building will be erected at 752 South Los Angeles street under the supervision of Architect John M. Cooper. Tentative plans provide for the erection of a Class A reinforced concrete constructed structure arranged to meet the requirements of Grether. & Grether, Inc., manufacturers of draperies. Four stores will be located on the ground floor while the upper floors will provide loft space. Cost will be in excess of $300,000.

Architect Myron Hunt has been engaged to prepare plans for a seven-story Class A store and apartment building to be built on the northeast corner of Hermosa avenue and Fourteenth street, Hermosa Beach, for F. S. Vreeland at a cost of $350,000. The structure will be of reinforced concrete construction, Class A and fireproof, and leased under the direction of the J. H. Kibler Company, real estate brokers. Blanket Denial of Plot-to-Sell Story of Wife Planned in Divorce Case

A demurrer to the divorce suit of Mrs. Helen La Male, who recently charged her husband with a plot to sell her to a negrogambler for $500,000, is to be filed today according to Attorney Fred A. Watkins, counsel for Elsier La Male, the accused husband. In this demurrer, La Maie's attorney stated yesterday, blanket denials of Mrs. La Maie's accusations will be made. A demurrer to the divorce sui stated yesterday, blanket denials of Mrs. La Maie's accusations will be made.

While Attorney Watkins was preparing the demurrer, which at a late moment was to be filed instead of a cross-complaint to the divorce suit, Federal investigators under Agent-in-charge Lucien Wheeler of the Department of Justice were seeking a costly furnished house which Lou Harris was said to have purchased for his prospective white bride. Harris is the negro gambler of the border underworld and the man reported to have been bartering for Mrs. La Maie at the time of the filing of her suit. In this house the investigators believe they will find some clews to the whereabouts of the missing gambler, whom the authorities have been unable to locate.

Whether Harris is in existence authorities have been unable to locate.

Whether Harris is in existence or whether he is a mythical person is another problem the authorities are attempting to solve. La Maie has said that Harris is only a myth, a character he created out of his own mind to urge his wife to forsake her craving for luxuries and wealth. Chandos Bush, attorney for Mrs. La Maie, has stated that Harris is not a myth, that he actually exists, is known to the Department of Justice agents and is being sought by them.

CARMEL AS IRAS

OURTH MEMBER OF "BEN HUR" CAST IS ANNOUNCED

By Edwin Schallert

Another vamp may be added to the list of those which Carmel Myers has played and this one may be described as the most famous. For it has been announced that she will assume the role of the Egyptian Circe, Iras, in the production of "Ben Hur," which the Goldwyn Corporation is to make. She is regarded as the international choice, because both Director Charles Brabin, abroad, and Miss June Mathis, here, have been considering aspirants for the part.

Miss Myers is the fourth member of the cast that has been announced by Vice-President Abraham Lehr, following dozens of film tests. It is considered by the company that she fulfills the requirements of the type, and furthermore she is an actrees to whom particular note has come for her recent performances.

You can decide for yourself By Edwin Schallert his Myers's recent appearances have been in "The Famous Mrs. Fair," in which she returned to popularity; "Slave of Desire" and "Reno." She was born in San Francisce and has played both on the stage and in pictures.

The members of the cast already engaged include George Walsh, who will play the title role; Gertrude Olmsted as Esther and Kathleen Key as Tizrah.

There will be no delay between productions at the Fine Arts Theater, following "R.U.R." Edward Knoblock's "Tiger," Tiger," will come immediately after this.

"R. U. R." will, according to present plans, be continued until the evening of January 5, thus reaching a total of five weeks for the run. January 7, the presentation of the David Belasco success will open, this being the first staging thereof in this city.

Frank Elliott will be the director of the production.

Mr. Khoblock, the author of "Tiger, Tiger!" is known for hit "Milestones" and "Kimmet" on the stage, and for his work in connection with the Doughas Fairbank pictures such as "The Three Musketeera," and "The Thief of Bagdad," soon to be released.

Annual Dinner of Greek Letter Men Tonight at the Hundreds of undergraduate sembers of Greek letter college fraternities, as well as many dis-tinguished graduate members, will be in attendance at the annual fraternity dinner at the Biltmore to-night. On account of the holiday season, representatives of most of the important colleges are now in Los Angeles.

The dinner is expected to be peculiarly important to Southern California this year because of plans to establish chapters of the best national fraternities at institutions in and near Los Angeles, only a few of the fraternities having affiliated with local colleges.

The best of entertainment and speakers have been provided by the banquet committee, of which Harry Miner is chairman. William Gibbs McAdoo will act as toastmaster, and the speakers will include Judge Russ Avery, Judge Paul Burks, Edward A. Dixon, Walter Eckersall, Coaches Dick and Roy Hanley of the Haskell Indians, Gloomy Gus Henderson, Andy Smith and Shy Huntington. Music will be provided by the University of Pennsylvania Jazz Orchestra, Ernest Davis, Metropolitan Opera Company tenor, and Hugo Kirchhoffer Last year a thousand men attended the dinner. This year's advance reservations forecast a larger attendance. Reservations may be made at the Biltmore or through B. J. Bradner, $11 Wright & Callender Building.

FIRST MORTGAGE is the standard of all investments — and "Standard mortgages are the standard." This corporation has established definite standards which it rigidly maintains and offers only mortgages that measure up to their standards. By buying Standard mortgages you are standardizing your investments—buying liens on high class improved properties that are well located in the path of progress and yield a conservative and dependable income of 7% which is promptly paid when due.

Conform to these standards and the value of your dollar will be standardized.
